LB 1124

Committee.

SENATOR CLARK: We have seven lights on. I would hope that we are going to keep it short. Senator Landis is next.

SENATOR LANDIS: Mr. Speaker, to get to the question of calling the question quickly we need some speakers on the other side, I will yield my time to Senator Vard Johnson and that way we can have some debate on the other side of this.

SENATOR CLARK: Senator Johnson.

SENATOR V. JOHNSON: Mr. Speaker, members of the body, I am going to keep it quite brief myself. I think the Legislature should know that the Revenue Committee had one of its finest hearings on LB 1124 of all of the hearings that I have attended in my six years here. We started at one-thirty in the afternoon and we completed it by six-thirty in the evening. It was...I guess it would be a five hour hearing. We had people come in from all across this country. We had a man who is current Chairman of the State Tax Commission responsible for multitax policies throughout the United States. We took a whole...

SENATOR CLARK: Senator Johnson, I hate to interrupt you in the middle of this but he is withdrawing the amendments. That will probably cut your speech a little shorter.

SENATOR V. JOHNSON: Earlier today, Senator Clark, when you did the same thing to Senator Beutler, it reminded me of the time I filed a kill motion while Senator Newell was speaking and people kept getting shirty about that but heaven forbid that I should be shirty with you. I shall sit down since the motion has been withdrawn.

SENATOR CLARK: Thank you. Do you have any further motions on the bill?

CLERK: Nothing further on the bill, Mr. President.

SENATOR CLARK: All right, the question before the House is the advancement of the bill. Senator Carsten, did you want
